

A collection of antique items is displayed on a white surface. On the left, there is a large, shallow brass bowl with a central depression. Next to it is a small, pear-shaped object, possibly a piece of fruit or a small vase. In the center, a tall, slender brass candlestick stands next to a glass candle holder containing a single, thick, yellowed candle. To the right of the candle holder is a small, dark, ornate metal stand. Further right is a large, deep brass bucket with a handle and a small, ornate metal stand. A small white card with text is placed near the bottom center of the items. The background is a plain, light-colored wall.
